

James Hartley

MODERNISM AND THE WORKING CLASS

JOHN FORDHAM

UNIVERSITY OF WALES PRESS
CARDIFF
2002

Contents

Chronology	ix
Introduction	1
 I FORMATIONS
1 Liverpool: Imperial and Sectarian City	9
 II ROMANCE AND REALITY: JAMES HANLEY AND THE SEA
2 A Writer of the Sea	23
3 Realism and Autobiography	29
4 Men in Darkness: The Sea and Industrialization	35
5 Hanley and Conrad:	46
 III HANLEY AND MODERNISM
6 The Dialectics of Modernism	77
7 Modernism and Commodity Production	91
8 The Working-Class Writer and the Intellectuals	96
9 Language and the Working Class	112
10 The Furies : Modernism and the Working Class	124
 IV HANLEY AND WALES
11 Itinerancy and Settlement: Political Engagement and Rural Retreat	137
12 The Second World War: Crisis and Resolution	161
13 Spiritual Homelands: Ireland, Wales and the Ideology of Exile	181
14 Wales versus London: Metropolitan and Provincial Perspectives	202
Conclusion	235
Notes	237
Bibliography	293
Index	307