

IT Ethics Handbook

Right and Wrong for
IT Professionals

n

Contents

Introduction. . . . .	1
Chapter 1 System Administration and Operations . . .	15
Introduction. . . . .	16
General Ethics Responsibility for Architects. . . . .	17
Building a System—Is it Secure Enough?. . . . .	18
Designing a Secure System—What about Legacy Applications?. . . . .	19
Ethics Responsibilities for System Implementers. . . . .	19
Architecture and Communication—Whose Problem is It?. . . . .	20
Performing Shortcuts—When is it Okay?. . . . .	21
Using Design Tools— Can You use Your Own Tools?. . . . .	21
FTP Servers—What about Access Control?. . . . .	22
Responsibility of Hardware and Operating System Vendors—Can They be Held Accountable?. . . . .	23
Day-to-day System Administration. . . . .	23
Using Alternate E-mail Programs—Is it Okay?. . . . .	24
PASSFLT and Password Policy—Should You Bypass It? .24
Testing Patches—Is it Necessary? . . . . .	25
Logon and Logoff Process—How Important is It? . . . .	25
Shoulder Surfers—Change the Password?. . . . .	27
Default Installations—Who's Fault is It? . . . . .	27
Establishment of Access Paths—Should You Refuse? . .	28
Server Logs Security Tools—Should You Alter Them? . .	29
Altering Logs—Is it a Bad Idea?. . . . .	29
Administrative Spying . . . . .	30
Spying on Employees—Is it ever Acceptable?. . . . .	31

Monitoring of Internal Activities—Audit Archived
E-mail? . . . . .	32
Sniffing—An Invasion of Privacy? . . . . .	34
Inappropriate System Use . . . . .	34
System Administration and Information Security in Opposition—Override Security System
Requirements? . . . . .	35
Sharing System Privileges—Should You Provide Access? . . . . .	35
Sharing System Privileges with Your Boss—When is it
Necessary? . . . . .	36
Lending the System Administration Machine—Is it
ever a Good Idea? . . . . .	37
Computer Games—Remove from the Network? . . . . .	38
Justifying Game Use—Sending Mixed Messages? . . . . .	38
Music Downloads—Should you Allow It? . . . . .	39
E-mail to Company List—Should You Block Access? . . . . .	40
Personal E-mail Lists—Are they Acceptable? . . . . .	41
General Mass E-mail—Should You "Reply All?" . . . . .	42
Using the Web when it is Not
Allowed—When Do You Allow Access? . . . . .	43
Networking . . . . .	43
Selling Bandwidth—Is it ever Appropriate? . . . . .	44
Wireless Systems—Should You Take Advantage? . . . . .	45
Chapter Summary . . . . .	48
Frequently Asked Questions . . . . .	49
Chapter 2 Audit . . . . .	51
Introduction . . . . .	52
Withholding Information and Following Protocol . . . . .	52
Independent Audit Failures—Do You Report or
Keep Things Quiet? . . . . .	53
Divulging Problems for Immediate Fix—To Tell or
Not to Tell . . . . .	54
Following the Chain of Command—What do You
do with Contradicting Orders? . . . . .	55
Auditing for the Internet . . . . .	56
Auditing Online—Policy or Privacy? . . . . .	56

Auditing Online Controls for Security—Do You Remain Impartial? . . . . .	57
Auditing Duty to Warn—Should You or Shouldn't You?	58
Conflicts of Interest . . . . .	59
Crossing the Audit Lines Too Far—Should You Offer Solutions? . . . . .	60
Disclosing Referral Fees—Must You Tell?.....	61
Receiving Gifts as an Auditor—Should You Decline? .	62
Relationships with Management—Will it Affect the Results? . . . . .	63
Using Audit Information—When is it Okay? . . . . .	64
Divulging Audit Information to the Competition— What About Your Reputation?.....	64
Company Policy vs. Legal Requirements. . . . .	65
Policy and Law in the Medical Profession—Should You Report Them? . . . . .	66
Turning Over Audit Results to the Government— What are the Legal Requirements? . . . . .	67
Reducing Lengthy Audits for Completion—Is this Audit Valid? . . . . .	68
Technical Aspects of Audits.....	69
Port Scanning for Audits—Should You Ask Permission?	70
Audit Penetration Tests that Go Wrong—Should You Have? . . . . .	71
Audits and Mergers. . . . .	71
Handling Multiple Client Audits—Should You Provide Details? . . . . .	72
Providing Information for an Acquisition— Should you Suppress Audit Problems? . . . . .	73
Chapter Summary. . . . .	74
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	75
Chapter 3 Vulnerability Disclosure. . . . .	77
Introduction. . . . .	78
Vulnerability Nondisclosure. . . . .	79
Can You Really Control Information?—Adopting Nondisclosure Policies. . . . .	80

The Black Hat Community—
Vulnerability Issues and Organizations. . . . .	81
Full Disclosure. . . . .	82
Ethically Handling Security
Vulnerabilities—Who do You Notify?.....	83
Performing a Full Disclosure—
How Much do Others Know Already? . . . . .	84
Public Disclosure. . . . .	86
ISS Handling Vulnerabilities—ShouldYou Pay? . . . . .	86
Vulnerability Disclosure by Security
Research Companies—Should They Tell? . . . . .	87
Ethical Duty to Warn. . . . .	88
Writers Exposing System Weaknesses—
ShouldYou Disclose All Information? . . . . .	89
Instilling Public Fear with Full
Disclosures—Err on the Side of Caution? . . . . .	90
Limited Disclosure. . . . .	91
IDS Signatures and Defensive
Measures—ShouldYou Provide Details? . . . . .	92
Black and White Hat Hackers. . . . .	93
Hackers Make Use of Vulnerability
Disclosures—Is Full Disclosure Necessary? . . . . .	93
The Government on
Hackers—ShouldYou Reverse Code? . . . . .	94
Patch Development . . . . .	95
Taking the Market
Advantage—ShouldYou Communicate? . . . . .	96
Combining System Fixes with
Security Patches—Adding More Risk? . . . . .	97
Responsible Disclosure Plans. . . . .	98
The Fisher Plan,
Government Disclosure—Is it Necessary? . . . . .	99
The Responsible Disclosure
Forum—Should One Be Created? . . . . .	100
Chapter Summary. . . . .	102
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	103

Chapter 4 Digital Postmaster. . . . .	105
Introduction. . . . .	106
Viewing E-mail. . . . .	106
Handling Bounced E-mails—To Look or Not . . . . .	107
Traffic Analysis—Looking at Who Gets What . . . . .	108
Mailing Lists—What about Reading Public Content? .109
Stumbling Upon E-mail—What Happens When You Look?. . . . .	110
Viewing Customer Content—If You Cannot See it, How Can You Help?.....	111
Disk Space Hogs—Follow Company Policy. . . . .	113
Can You Take E-Mail Back?.....	114
Sins of Omission—Is it Legal?. . . . .	114
Morale over Safety—What if You Had to Choose? . . .	116
Spam, Spam, and More Spam. . . . .	117
Tuning the Spam Filter—False Positives. . . . .	117
"Research-grade" Spam Killers and Blacklists— Do They Work?. . . . .	118
Cyber Stalking, Threats, and Harassment.....	119
Online Stalking—No Big Deal?. . . . .	119
Chapter Summary. . . . .	120
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	122
Chapter 5 E-mail Scams. . . . .	125
Introduction. . . . .	126
Monetary Gain. . . . .	127
Help Me Move Money from My Country— Governments Must Set the Tone. . . . .	128
"Free Credit Report" E-mails—Can You Tell the Difference. . . . .	130
eBay and PayPal Scams—You Should be More Aware .131
Chain Letters. . . . .	133
E-mail Chain Letters—Do They Harm Anyone?. . . .	133
Identity Theft and Scams for Personal Information. . . .	136
"Find Out Everything on Anyone" Scams—Does the End Justify the Means?. . . . .	137

- . Con Artists and E-mail Questionnaires—Presume it is a Scam . . . . . 138
- Account Verification or "phisher" Scams—Should These Domain Names be Issued? . . . . . 140
- Chapter Summary. . . . . 143
- Frequently Asked Questions. . . . . 143
- Chapter 6 Information Security Officers. . . . . 145
- Introduction. . . . . 146
- Hacking. . . . . 146
  - Hacking for Business Warfare—Is it Just a Part of Business? . . . . . 146
  - Giving in to Distributed Denial of Service "Hacktortionists"—Do You Pay?.....147
  - Hacking for Education—Is it Just About Learning? . . . 148
  - OS Attacks—Go After the Bad Guy? . . . . . 149
  - Cracking Screen Saver Passwords—Should You or You? . . . . . 149
  - Spoofing—Does it Serve a Purpose? . . . . . 150
- Penetration Tests. . . . . 151
  - Testing Security Vulnerability—Should You Help the ISO? . . . . . 151
  - Appropriate Hacking to Determine Weaknesses—Know What You are Doing.....153
  - Failure of Penetration Testing Software—Who's at Fault? 153
- Viruses and Worms. . . . . 154
  - Virus Development for Profit—Is it Appropriate? . . . . 155
  - Bounty Hunters for Virus Writers—A Deterrent? . . . . 155
  - Acceptable Virus Tolerance Level—Is there One? . . . . 156
  - Viruses and Due Diligence—Does it Work? . . . . . 157
  - System Crashes—Should You Reformat the Hard Drive? 158
  - Attacking Attackers—Go on the Offense? . . . . . 159
  - Bypassing Alerts—Never a Good Idea . . . . . 159
- Encryption . . . . . 160
  - Backup Keys—Are they Necessary? . . . . . 160
  - VPN Encryption—Utilize for Personal Gain? . . . . . 161

Sending Unencrypted Documents—Should it Ever Occur? . . . . .	.162
Victim of Industrial Espionage—Who's Responsible? . . . . .	.162
Is Industrial Espionage Ethical?—Common Behavior . . . . .	.163
Law Enforcement and Viewing Irrelevant Data—Do You have a Contingency Plan? . . . . .	.163
Selling Encryption Tools Globally—Did You Do the Research? . . . . .	.164
Handling Network Security Information . . . . .	.165
Software Malfunctions—Should You Report Them? . . . . .	.165
Stealth Sniffer—Improve Security. . . . .	.166
Ensuring Information Security on the Personnel Level . . . . .	.166
Lying to Clients Regarding Corporate Security—Is This Ever a Good Idea? . . . . .	.167
Sex in the Work Place—How to Handle It? . . . . .	.168
Handling Evidence on Personnel—A Difficult Situation . . . . .	.169
Security Reprimands, Contractors vs. Personnel—Treat Equally? . . . . .	.170
Chapter Summary. . . . .	.171
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	.171
Chapter 7 Programmers and Systems Analysts. . . . .	.173
Introduction . . . . .	.174
Coding Practices. . . . .	.174
Bad Code—Whose Problem is It? . . . . .	.175
Weak Code—Is it Ever Okay? . . . . .	.177
Correct Use of Memory—Fixed Versus Dynamic . . . . .	.178
Ethical Use of System Resources—Are You Using or Abusing the Privilege? . . . . .	.179
Redoing Code Due to Management Changes—Should You do It? . . . . .	.180
Staying Current with Coding Practices—What if It's Not in Your Schedule? . . . . .	.181
Commenting Code—When is It Okay Not to Do It? . . . . .	.182
Omitting Code Comments for Job Security—Should You Play the Game? . . . . .	.183
Pseudo Code—Is It Worth Your Time? . . . . .	.184

Code Maintenance. . . . .	185
Modifying the Original Secure Design of a Program- Is this Ever Appropriate?. . . . .	185
Affecting the Overall Quality of a Program—What is Acceptable?. . . . .	186
Code Review. . . . .	187
Lazy Reviews—Do You Do It?.....	187
Following Standards -How Strict Should You Be? . . .	188
Automated Code Review—Do You Trust the Software or Yourself?.....	189
Code Design and Testing . . . . .	190
Skipping the Design Phase—A Bad Idea?. . . . .	190
Ad Hoc Development— Is a Structured Plan Better?. . . . .	191
Skimping on the Testing Phase—Is Automated Testing Enough?. . . . .	191
Programmers and Viruses. . . . .	192
Using Company Resources for Continuing Education—What About the Risk?. . . . .	193
Contracting a Virus and Propagating It to the Network—Should You Confess?. . . . .	194
Downloading Shareware—Is There a Standard Policy? .	195
Coding Attacks—Are They Ever Justified?. . . . .	195
Programmer Security Responsibility. . . . .	196
API Calls and Security—Finding the Right Balance .	197
CGI Flaws—Who is Responsible?. . . . .	198
Temporary Fixes—A Common Practice. . . . .	199
Disabling Warnings in Macros—Not a Big Deal? . . .	200
Using Back Doors—A Catch 22?. . . . .	201
Cracking Passwords—Should You or Shouldn't You? .	202
Software Deployment—What is the Best Way?. . . .	202
Chapter Summary. . . . .	204
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	204
Chapter 8 Database Administration. . . . .	207
Introduction. . . . .	208
Database Development Ethical Pitfalls. . . . .	209

Data Discrepancies in Database Development—What If Your Boss Wants you to Keep Quiet? . . . . .	209
DBA Password Use and Misuse—Should You Implement Changes? . . . . .	210
DBA Qualifications—When are You Qualified? . . . . .	211
Handling Data, Program, and Hardware Backups. . . . .	212
Failing to Perform Required Data Backup—What if You Miss One? . . . . .	213
Handling Damaged Backup Disks—What if You're to Blame? . . . . .	213
Selling Old Backup Drives—What if Your Company Cannot Use them Anymore? . . . . .	214
Administrating Data Types and Allocating Memory— Are You Looking at the Big Picture? . . . . .	215
Purchasing Third-Party Database Solutions—A Risky Business? . . . . .	216
Data Models and Database Architecture. . . . .	217
Re-using Data Models from Previous Jobs—Is this Okay? . . . . .	219
Creation of Database Specifications—What if They're Not Building it Right? . . . . .	220
Obtaining Knowledge from the Data . . . . .	221
Knowledge Regarding Coworkers Pay from the Data—Should You Say Something? . . . . .	221
Knowledge Regarding Private Company Information—Should You Look? . . . . .	222
Knowledge of Private Personal Information— Security vs. Invasion of Privacy? . . . . .	223
Ascertaining Data Requests from Users. . . . .	224
Handling Unusual Requests for Data—Is there a Clear Policy? . . . . .	224
Assessing Management Requests for Data—What is the Procedure? . . . . .	225
Providing Sensitive Data via E-mail—. . . . .	226
Massaging and Cleaning Data . . . . .	226
Changing the Data for Marketing Purposes—Is it Legal? . . . . .	227

Exaggerating Sales Data for Your Boss—Are You Painting a False Picture? . . . . .	227
Data Forecasting and Trend Analysis. . . . .	228
Data Forecasting Tools that Fudge Results—Should you End the Relationship with the Vendor? . . . . .	228
Pulling Inaccurate Trend Analysis Graphs—What Will be the Result? . . . . .	229
Chapter Summary. . . . .	231
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	232
Chapter 9 Information Service Providers (ISP). . . . .	235
Introduction. . . . .	236
Internet Service Provider Customer Services. . . . .	236
Updates of ISP Software—Should You Download What You Need? . . . . .	238
Pop-up Advertising—Should ISP's be Responsible for Blocking Them? . . . . .	239
ISP—Updating Your Operating System? . . . . .	240
ISPs Blocking E-mail—Do You Have a Choice? . . . . .	241
Program Backup from Your ISP—Should They Ask First? . . . . .	242
Computer Viruses, Worms, and Trojan Horses. . . . .	243
Trojan Horse. . . . .	244
Distributed Denial of Service. . . . .	244
Loss of Revenue Due to ISP Failure— What Does the Service Agreement Say? . . . . .	245
Loss of Service Due to the ISP Coming Under Attack—Should You be Reimbursed? . . . . .	245
ISPs' Security Practices. . . . .	246
Should an ISP Block Microsoft Ports? . . . . .	247
Cable Modem Hacking. . . . .	248
Banned From Using Broadband for Life—Too Severe a Punishment? . . . . .	248
Intellectual Property. . . . .	249
Misuse of DMCA to Hide Flaws—Should the Material be Removed? . . . . .	250

DMCA and Universities as ISPs—Are They Still Independent? . . . . .	251
ISP Information Sharing . . . . .	252
ISPs and Privacy Rights—Is it Confidential? . . . . .	253
Music Downloading and ISPs—Should They Share the Information? . . . . .	253
Handling Network Security Information—Should You Ever Release It? . . . . .	255
Domain Hijacking and Name Confusion . . . . .	255
To Protect Your Business—Hijack a Domain Name? . . . . .	256
WhiteHouse.com Example —ShouldYou Even Get Involved? . . . . .	257
Chapter Summary . . . . .	258
Frequently Asked Questions . . . . .	258
References . . . . .	259
Chapter 10 Brother's Keeper . . . . .	261
Introduction . . . . .	262
Coworkers' Inappropriate Habits . . . . .	262
Sleeping During Meetings—What ifYou Catch Someone? . . . . .	262
Internet Hoaxes—Your Coworkers Gullibility . . . . .	263
Blast from the Past—When Material is Not Properly Deleted . . . . .	264
Disclosing Information—What ifYour Coworker Shares too Much? . . . . .	264
Lowered Awareness—When Your Coworkers are Potentially Lax about Security . . . . .	265
Questionable Internet Viewing—What do You do About Offensive Material? . . . . .	266
Job Performance of Others . . . . .	269
Skippping Standard Operation Procedure—When Your Coworker Does It . . . . .	269
Reporting Errors—What About When it's Only Your First Day? . . . . .	270
'Warnings Unheard—When you Raise an Issue that is Ignored . . . . .	270

Concerning Others' Compensation . . . . .	271
Salary Discrepancy—Why is Someone Else Being Paid More? . . . . .	272
Payment for Duty—What if They're Not Doing Their Job? . . . . .	273
Business Ethics of Others . . . . .	273
Personal and Professional Business- When it isn't Separated . . . . .	274
Overheard Conversations—What Should You Report? .	275
Deliberate Misconduct—Should You Blow the Whistle? .	276
Disgruntled Employees—What if You Think There is a Reason to Worry? . . . . .	277
Chapter Summary. . . . .	278
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	278
 Chapter 11 End-user and Employee Computer Security. . . . .	 281
Introduction . . . . .	282
Work/Life Boundaries . . . . .	282
Work E-mail Address—What if it is Your Personal One as Well? . . . . .	283
Company Resources—Using Them for Personal Use .	284
Company Materials—What if Others Use Them for Personal Business? . . . . .	285
Distractions within the Computing Environment . . . . .	285
Use of the Company Internet Access—What are Your Boundaries? . . . . .	286
Pop-up Ads—What Happens when They are Out of Control? . . . . .	286
Spam Messages—What if You Respond Using the Company's Computer? . . . . .	288
News Items—Is it Okay to Read the News at Work? .	288
Job Search and the Company Internet—Is Looking Okay? . . . . .	289
Looking Outside the Company. . . . .	290
Configuration Control—Should You Use the

Company's Laptop for Personal Reasons? . . . . .	290
Access Control—Should You Use Passwords that Are Not Meant for You?.....	291
Using Shortcuts—If the Back Door is Faster, Should You Use It? . . . . .	292
Viruses. . . . .	293
Potential False Alarms—Do You Send out Warnings of an Unconfirmed Virus? . . . . .	293
Virus from Your Actions—What if it is Your Fault a System is Contaminated? . . . . .	295
Data Destruction—Is There a Reformat Process? . . . .	296
Networking—Should You Ever Circumvent a Firewall? .	297
Physical Security. . . . .	298
Lock and Key—What if You Loan Your Key to Your Coworker? . . . . .	299
Convenience over Security—Is Okay Once in Awhile? .	299
Securing Your Responsibilities—What if Your Coworkers Help Out? . . . . .	300
Missing Material—What if Material is Lost Under Your Watch? . . . . .	301
Money Matters. . . . .	301
Payroll Problems—Bonus or Bogus? . . . . .	302
New Company, No Pay—What if Time is Not an Option to be Paid? . . . . .	302
Retirement Plans—Should You Withdraw It? . . . . .	303
Expense Reports—Should You Follow the Leader? . . .	304
Paid Vacations—Include Them on an Expense Report? .	304
Company Supplies. . . . .	305
Helping Your Fellow Employees.....	306
List-serves—Should You Help? . . . . .	306
Dealing with Management . . . . .	307
New Management—What if Your New Manager is Par? . . . . .	307
The Manager's Assistant—Should You ask the Assistant , for Your Manager's Opinion?.....	308
Impossible Deadlines—What Happens When Your

Manager Does Not Realize It? . . . . .	309
Competitive Managers—What Happens When They Take Credit for Your Ideas?.....	309
Roles Within the Company. . . . .	310
Marketing Roles—What if You Have Insider Knowledge about Your Competition?.....	310
Product Managing—What if What They Want is Not What is Best? . . . . .	311
Product Marketing—What if You Give Your Friend Insider Information? . . . . .	312
Sales Person—Should you Make the Sale? . . . . .	313
Sales Team—What About Those Conferences? . . . . .	314
Software Developer/Programmer/Engineer—Should You Do More? . . . . .	315
Development Team—Is it Okay to Infiltrate Your Competition? . . . . .	316
Sales Representatives—How do You Deal with Them? . . . . .	317
Finance—What Should You Do? . . . . .	317
Procurement . . . . .	318
Supply Management—What Happens when Your Supplier Falls Behind in Innovation? . . . . .	319
Vendors—What if You Choose to go with the Cheaper Supplier? . . . . .	319
Offensive Issues. . . . .	320
Settling a Score with a Coworker—Should You Do it? . . . . .	320
Chapter Summary. . . . .	322
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	323
Chapter 12 Customer Ethics. . . . .	325
Introduction. . . . .	326
Customer Rights. . . . .	326
End-user License Agreements—What is the Company's True Responsibility? . . . . .	327
Unfair Product Pricing—Is it Extreme? . . . . .	328
Reselling Customization—Is it Detailed in the Sales Agreement? . . . . .	329
Known Product Defect—Do You Notify Your Customers? . . . . .	330

Customer Complaints. . . . .	331
Customer Service Reluctant to Help—Should they Offer a Refund?. . . . .	331
Fraudulent Complaints—Which Complaints are Legitimate?. . . . .	333
E-mailing Complaints to the Public—Would You Have Been More Cautious?. . . . .	334
Automated Customer Service. . . . .	337
Automated Billing—Account Out of Control. . . . .	337
Automated Billing—Account Access Lost. . . . .	338
Automated Phone Systems—Are They Helpful?. . . . .	339
Network Engineer and Technical Trainer Automated Support—Can They Provide Custom Help?. . . . .	341
Chapter Summary. . . . .	344
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	345
Chapter 13 Trusted Assistant. . . . .	347
Introduction. . . . .	348
Communicating on Behalf of the Manager. . . . .	348
Communicating via E-mail for the Manager—A Primary Role?. . . . .	349
Making Mistakes when Speaking on Behalf of the Manager—Should You Confess?. . . . .	349
E-mail Lists and Distribution of Information—When to Say No?. . . . .	350
Taking Advantage of Your Position. . . . .	351
Getting Ahead by Association—Does it Work For or Against You?.....	351
Using the Manager's Name—Should You Play the Game?. . . . .	352
Influencing the Manager. . . . .	353
Access to Company Resources. . . . .	354
Free Long Distance—Do You Think Twice About It? . . . .	354
Corporate Credit Cards—Should You Presume? . . . .	355
Temporary Employees in the Role of Trusted Assistant—How Much Access Should They Have? . . . .	356
Conflicts of Interest. . . . .	357

- Working with Your Friends—Do You Tell Them? . . . .357
- Working with Your Mate—Where Should Your Loyalty Be? . . . . .358
- Dating the Manager—How Does This Change Things? 359
- In-House Politics and Secrets. . . . .361
- Giving the Inside Scoop to Coworkers—Is It Ever Appropriate? . . . . .361
- The New Girl—Do You Sabotage Her?.....362
- Interrupting the Manager—Should You Wait It Out? . .363
- The Loyalty of the Trusted Assistant . . . . .363
- Senior Management Checking in on Your Manager—Where Does Your Loyalty Lie?.....364
- Tattletale Trusted Assistant—Should You Tell?.....364
- Whistle Blowing—A Difficult Decision. . . . .365
- Taking a Bribe from an Interviewee—Is It Ever a Good Idea? . . . . .366
- Handling Sensitive Information. . . . .367
- Intellectual Property—What Can You Share?.....367
- Personnel Information—Is It Confidential? . . . . .368
- Requests for Information from Vendors—Should You Pass Along Information? . . . . .368
- Getting Stuck as a Trusted Assistant—When is it Okay to Leave? . . . . .369
- Boundaries of the Trusted Assistant . . . . .370
- Personal Information About the Manager—Should You Intervene? . . . . .371
- Professional Distance—What is a Good Balance? . . . .371
- Performing Non-work Related Chores—Are You Setting a Precedent? . . . . .372
- Taking the Blame—Should You Be a Scapegoat? . . . .373
- The Manager's Alias—Should You Be a Buffer? . . . .374
- Chapter Summary. . . . .375
- Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .376
- Chapter 14 Ethics and Contractors/Consultants . . . .379
- Introduction . . . . .380
- Strategies for Obtaining Contracts. . . . .380

Networking for Contracts—Should You Help Your Friends at the Expense of Others? . . . . .	381
Free Contracting—How Far Should Free Assessments Go? . . . . .	382
Pushing the Limits. . . . .	383
Fake IT Contractors—Contracting Unqualified Clients	383
Hired but Cannot Do the Job—Should You Take the Job?	384
Resume/Portfolio—Should You Use Exaggerations and Lies? . . . . .	385
"Bait and Bail"—Should You Risk It? . . . . .	386
Over Billing—Doing What You Think is Right....	387
Withholding Information. . . . .	389
Using Mumbo Jumbo—Does it Provide Job Security?	390
Making It Hard for Others to Do Their Jobs—Should You Play This Game? . . . . .	391
Withholding Information for Pay—Should You? . . . .	392
Owning Mistakes—Is Honesty the Best Policy? . . . .	393
Work from Previous Contracts. . . . .	394
Saving Work from Previous Contracts—Adding to Your Portfolio. . . . .	395
Re-using Work from Previous Contracts—What Makes Sense? . . . . .	395
Code Re-use for a Different Customer—Should You Charge for It? . . . . .	396
Re-using Code—Should You Credit Your Previous Company? . . . . .	397
Vague Areas in Legal Contracts. . . . .	397
Contract Completion—Are You Obligated?.....	398
Working Without a Contract—Does it Depend on the Client? . . . . .	398
Getting Out of a Contract—Should You Try?.....	399
Corporate Insurance—Is it Necessary? . . . . .	400
Making Use of Available Resources.....	401
Contractors and Employee Privileges—Should You , Receive Them? . . . . .	401

Contractors and Company Resources—What is the Policy? . . . . .	402
Consulting Agencies. . . . .	402
Big Six Consulting Firms—What are the Benefits? . . .	403
Consulting Rates—Whose Worth What? . . . . .	404
Failure to Pay the Consultant—How Much is it Worth? .	405
Placement Services—Where Should Your Loyalty Be? .	406
Shady Consulting Gigs—Follow Your Instincts.....	406
Handling Competition and Politics—What's Your Style? .	407
Communication with Clients—Keeping it Wide Open .	408
Chapter Summary. . . . .	410
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	410
Chapter 15 Telecommuting and Mobile
Computer Security. . . . .	413
Introduction. . . . .	414
Work/Life Balance in the Home Office. . . . .	415
Household Chores on the Job—Is it Okay to Do Both? .	415
When the Office is at Home, What About Caring for Children? . . . . .	417
Handling Personal Finances—Is This Fine in the Home Office? . . . . .	418
Personal Privacy for Telecommuters—How Much Should You Have? . . . . .	419
Proper Reimbursement for Telecommuters—What Are You Charging For? . . . . .	420
Tracking Your Whereabouts.....	420
Personal Errands—What if You Make Up the Time? . .	421
Balancing Time—Are Appointments Okay? . . . . .	422
Interviewing for Another Job—Should You Tell Management? . . . . .	422
Transporting Your Home Office—Should You Tell the Manager? . . . . .	423
Impact of Instant Messaging . . . . .	424
IM and Management—What if They Will Not Use It? .	424
Availability Status—Should You Always Be There? . . .	425
Using IM as a Shield—Should You Confront Him? . . .	426

Telecommuting Access Control and Mobile Computers . . .	427
Personal Files—Should You Store Them on Your Work Computer? . . . . .	428
Personal Use of Company Computer—Should You Use It? . . . . .	428
Personal Use of Company Resources—Which Sites Are Appropriate. . . . .	430
Leaving the Remote Computer at Risk—Should You Report It? . . . . .	430
Users Accounts and Security—Report Violations to IT? . . . . .	431
Media Storage—How Important are Backups? . . . . .	432
Installing Prototype Software on Your Company Machine—Should You? . . . . .	433
Service Access—Should You Allow It? . . . . .	434
Travel Considerations—Should You Work While Traveling? . . . . .	434
Sending Personal Photos Using Company E-mail— Is it a Good Practice? . . . . .	435
Telecommuting and Mobile Computer Policy. . . . .	436
Chapter Summary. . . . .	437
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	437
Chapter 16 Personal Computer Users. . . . .	439
Introduction. . . . .	440
Computer Addiction. . . . .	440
Computer Video Games—Are They Really Addictive? . . . . .	440
Surfing—How About a Schedule? . . . . .	441
Newsgroup and Web Logs. . . . .	442
Virtual Friends—How Do They Fit into Your Life? . . . . .	442
Exploiting Virtual Friends—Should You Issue a Disclaimer? . . . . .	443
Flaming Newbies—Should You Go Easy? . . . . .	444
Sharing Your Deep Feelings in a Newsgroup—A Good Idea? . . . . .	445
Web Log—Public Diary? . . . . .	446
Chat Rooms. . . . .	446
Ad Hoc Business Agreements—Should You Trust Them? . . . . .	447

Internet-based Activism—Is it Effective?.....	447
Meeting the Right Virtual Woman—Is it Possible? .. .	448
E-mail Etiquette. . . . .	449
Useless Forwarded E-mail—Delete It? . . .	450
The Neiman Marcus Cookie and Other Urban Legends—Should You Forward It to Others? . . . .	452
Viruses and Worms. . . . .	452
When Anti-Virus Fails—What to Do? . . . . .	453
The Microsoft Patch by E-mail—Should You Open It? .	454
Web Site Browsing and Usage. . . . .	455
Personal Responsibility for Privacy—Taking Steps to Minimize Exposure. . . . .	455
The Relative Security of Online Sites—Should You Trust It? . . . . .	456
Conspicuous Consumption—Is It too Easy? . . . . .	457
DIY Spyware—Will It Make You Paranoid? . . . . .	458
Cookies—Managing Your Privacy.....	459
Browsing Pornography on the Internet—Those Persistent Web Sites. . . . .	460
eBay Shopping—Buyer Beware. . . . .	462
Slow Fulfillment—Do You Have Recourse? . . . . .	463
Fraudulent E-mail—Ignore It? . . . . .	464
Downloading Music—Try Before you Buy. . . . .	465
Sharing an Internet Connection—Is it Okay Not to Share with Others? . . . . .	466
Chapter Summary. . . . .	467
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	467
Chapter 17 Penetration Testing. . . . .	469
Introduction. . . . .	470
Misrepresenting the Penetration Test. . . . .	471
Misrepresenting Yourself—Is it Okay?.....	472
Vulnerability Scanners—In Place of Penetration Testing?	473
Using Free Tools—Should You Share the Knowledge? .	474
Undermining the Overall Security Picture. . . . .	477
Providing a False Sense of Security—Should You Ever?	477
Providing Limited Results—Never a Good Idea . . . .	478

Failing to Provide the Full Picture—Not in Your Best Interest . . . . .	479
The Penetration Test Goes Bad—Are You Responsible? . . . . .	480
Testing Non-clients. . . . .	481
Chasing the Web Ambulance—Bad for Your Reputation? . . . . .	482
Wireless Security Breach Detection—Not the Best Advertising . . . . .	483
Detecting Networks without WEP Enabled—The Most Important Thing is Your Integrity.....	484
Ulterior Motives Presenting Reports. . . . .	485
Overstating Problems—It is Best to Be Accurate. . . . .	485
Using Results to Sell Services—Is this a Trick? . . . . .	486
Holding Back Information—Handle with Care. . . . .	487
Exploiting the Company—Honesty is the Best Policy . . . . .	488
Chapter Summary. . . . .	489
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	490
Chapter 18 Content Providing. . . . .	491
Introduction. . . . .	492
Research: Sifting Through Data to Find the Facts and Due Diligence. . . . .	492
Assuming the Expert Knows Best—What if you Take Material You are Given at Face Value?.....	493
GIAC Training Papers and Research Ethics—What Price Should the Guilty Pay? . . . . .	494
Checking the Facts—What if You Do Not Research Results You Did Not Acquire?.....	495
Distinguishing Between Facts and Personal Opinions—Should You Use Both? . . . . .	496
Determining the Accuracy of Technical Details—Know What You are Buying.....	497
Taking an Unethical Technical Writing Job. . . . .	498
Working in Unethical Industries—Are You Willing to Compromise? . . . . .	498
Personal Ethics Conflicting with Job Assignments—Should You Refuse? . . . . .	499

Writing with Accuracy. . . . . 501

    Puffery: Making a Product Sound Better Than it Is—Is
        This a Good Idea? . . . . . 501

    Distorting the Facts—Will it Come Back to Haunt You? 502

    Using Logical Fallacies—Is This Misleading? . . . . . 503

Performing Product Reviews. . . . . 504

    Negative Product, Positive Review—How Do You
        Communicate the Truth? . . . . . 504

    Controlling Statistical Results—Communication is Key 505

    Personal Attacks in a Product Review—Should You
        Keep Your Emotions Out of It?.....506

Concerns of System Documentation. . . . . 507

    Completing System Documentation—Make Sure you
        Do the Updates. . . . . 507

    Open Source Systems—Should You Provide
        Documentation? . . . . . 508

Information Integrity with Web Content . . . . . 510

    Web Content Review Process—Is it an Effective
        Business Tool? . . . . . 510

    Ethical Criteria in Preparation of Posted Information—
        Should You Enforce these Rules? . . . . . 511

    Maintenance of Posted Material—What is Expected of You? . . . . . 512

    Authorized vs. "Fake" Web Sites—Everyone Should
        Understand the Difference. . . . . 513

The Rules of Fair Use. . . . . 514

    Printing Materials from the Web—Do You Have the Authority? . . . . . 515

    Web Material Merging vs. Actual Authoring—There are Good Points and Bad Points. . . . . 516

    Reproduction of Materials from the Web—Be Cautious 517

Work for Hire and Authorship. . . . . 518

    Two Authors Producing One Article—Who Gets the Credit? . . . . . 518

    Assuming Responsibility for Authorship—Consider the Ramifications When Under Agreement . . . . . 520

Chapter Summary. . . . .	523
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	524
Chapter 19 Privacy. . . . .	527
Introduction. . . . .	528
Privacy and the Law. . . . .	528
Unfunded Federal Mandates—What if You Cannot Comply Even if You Wanted To?. . . . .	529
Disclosure of Private Information—What's Your Responsibility?. . . . .	530
Privacy Complaints—What's if it's a Matter of National Security?. . . . .	531
Tracking Private Information. . . . .	532
Radio Frequency ID's for Marketing—Is it Okay to Track a Consumer?. . . . .	532
Private Information about Customers—What about Reselling their Information?. . . . .	534
Respecting Customer Privacy—Sneaky Businesses . . .	534
Default Cookies—What about those Silent Trackers? . .	535
Surveillance. . . . .	536
Video Surveillance—Is It Ethical?. . . . .	537
Monitoring by Third Parties—What if Others are Just Watching?. . . . .	537
GPS—Tracking Where You Are and Go.....	538
The General Motors OnStar Program—GPS for Security Reasons?. . . . .	539
Parental Surveillance—What if Tracking is for Your Child's Safety?. . . . .	540
Activity Monitoring—No Privacy in the Office? . . .	541
Workplace Privacy. . . . .	542
Accuracy and Privacy—Controlling Your Assumptions	542
Private Information on Computer and Communication Systems—Who Owns It?. . . . .	543
Searching Personal Effects—A Necessary Evil?. . . .	544
Processing Confidentiality and Security—Should it be Encrypted?. . . . .	545

- Private Information from Job Seekers—Is this Discriminatory? . . . . . 545
- Information Given to the Individuals—ShouldYou Sue? 546
- The Rights of Individuals. . . . . 547
  - Web Sites and Availability of Information—ShouldYou Have Access? . . . . . 547
  - Accessing Human Resource Data—ShouldYou See All of It? . . . . . 548
  - Individual's Right to Object—Do You Help Them? . . 549
  - Disclosure of Personal Data to Third Parties—It's All About the Facts. . . . . 549
  - Foreigner Traveler Data Collection—Does it Inhibit Tourism? . . . . . 550
- Addressing Identity Theft. . . . . 551
  - Illegal Transfer of Personal Information—Who is at Fault? . . . . . 551
  - Credit Card Phone Scam—Never Divulge Personal Information. . . . . 552
  - Sign-in Sheets and Rosters—ShouldYou Sign Them? 553
  - Identity Theft Disguised as Charity Organizations—Always Check Them Out . . . . . 554
  - "Do Not Call" Telemarketing Scams—Do Not be Intimidated. . . . . 555
- Web Intrusions in Personal Privacy. . . . . 556
  - Hostile Web Sites—Protect Your Computer.....556
  - The Maze of Web Site Links—Are You Offended? . . 557
  - Misleading Web Sites—Freedom of Speech?. . . . . 557
  - Java Trapping—Intrusive Advertising? . . . . . 558
  - Pop-ups—Do They Cross the Line? . . . . . 559
- Internet Forums and Personal Privacy. . . . . 559
  - Web Forums as Marketing Tools—Is this Acceptable? . 560
  - Forums and Privacy Risk—Limit the Information? . . 560
  - Hackers Forum Sites—Is this Code Really Free? . . . 561
- Pretexting and Cyber Stalking. . . . . 562
  - Pretexting Calls—Never Divulge Other's Personal Information . . . . . 562

The WHOIS Database—Should it be Accessible to the Public? . . . . .	563
Chapter Summary . . . . .	565
Frequently Asked Questions . . . . .	566
Chapter 20 Management/Employer Ethics . . . . .	569
Introduction . . . . .	570
Diversity and Ethics . . . . .	570
Language Barriers—Should Language be Considered when Hiring? . . . . .	571
Managing Conflicts of Religious Beliefs—What Happens with Conflicts of Interest? . . . . .	572
Fair Treatment for All Employees . . . . .	572
Rewarding Star Employees—How Much is Enough? . . . . .	573
Special Privileges and Management Decisions—Who Gets to Do What? . . . . .	574
Thinking of Employees as Human Beings.....	575
Warning Employees of Layoffs—Should You Keep it Quiet? . . . . .	576
Moral Obligations to New Employees—How Long is Long Enough? . . . . .	577
The Software Development Team—What About Quality of Life? . . . . .	578
How Far Will You Go to Make the Extra Buck.....	580
Cheap Labor—Should You Hire Them? . . . . .	580
Acquisitions for Personal Reasons—Should You Challenge It? . . . . .	582
Ethics in Business Partnerships—What About Human Rights? . . . . .	583
Doing Business with a Non-reputable Company—Should You ask for References? . . . . .	584
Personal Employee Issues . . . . .	585
Dress in the Work Place—What is Appropriate? . . . . .	586
Travel Expenses for Affairs—Should You Intervene? . . . . .	587
Lewd Comments in the Workplace—Is this Harassment? . . . . .	587
Personal Matters and Work—How do You Maintain a Balance? . . . . .	589

Hiring, Firing, and Quitting . . . . .	590
Being Passed Up for Promotion—Should You Tell . Your Manager? . . . . .	590
Acquiring Personnel from Other Departments— Should You Make an Offer? . . . . .	592
Downsizing and Age Discrimination—Where is the Loyalty? . . . . .	592
Breaking Out on Your Own—Should You Compete with Your Previous Employer?.....	593
Chapter Summary. . . . .	595
Frequently Asked Questions. . . . .	596
Chapter 21 Conclusion. . . . .	599