

Italian Feminist Thought

A Reader

Edited by

Paola Bono and Sandra Kemp

Basil Blackwell

Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
Translators	xvii
Introduction: Coming from the South	1
The cultures of Italian feminism	2
The legacy of the past and the topographies of the present	8
Interculturality, intertextuality: Adrienne Rich, Luce Irigaray and Italian feminism	12
A female cogito: subjectivity, politics and the question of difference	14
The personal is the political: intersections of theory and practice	20
Post-modernism?	23
 PART I ITALIAN FEMINIST GROUPS: A SURVEY OF POSITIONS
1 Demau	33
Manifesto Demau , 1966	34
2 Rivolta Femminile	36
Manifesto Rivolta Femminile , 1970	37
Let's spit on Hegel Carla Lonzi , 1970	40
I say I Rivolta Femminile , 1977	59
3 Movimento Femminista Romano	62
On prostitution: two broadsheets and a statement Movimento Femminista Romano , 1973	64
Male sexuality – perversion Movimento Femminista Romano , 1976	68
Perhaps I can't fight for freedom yet Elena, Movimento Femminista Romano , 1977	70
Sexuality and money Movimento Femminista Romano , 1979	72

Towards a project	Movimento Femminista Romano , 1979	73
An interpretation: marching in the night	Elisabetta Rasy , 1978	76
4 Pratica dell'Inconscio		82
Practice of the unconscious and the women's movement	Practice of the Unconscious Group , Milan, 1986	83
On the uses of psychoanalysis: Dora, Freud and violence	Lea Melandri , 1974	94
5 Libreria delle Donne di Milano		109
More women than men	Libreria delle Donne di Milano , 1983	110
Bonding and freedom	Luisa Muraro , 1985	123
Entrustment enters the palace	M. Grazia Campari, Rosaria Canzano, Lia Cigarini, Sciana Loaldi, Laura Roseo and Claudia Shanmah , 1985	126
Radicality and asceticism	Ida Dominijanni , 1987	129
6 I Centri Culturali delle Donne		139
Culture/cultures in the Women's Centres	Women from three Centri at the National Conference of Women in Siena , 1986	140
7 Il Centro Culturale Virginia Woolf di Roma		148
The indecent difference	Alessandra Bocchetti , 1982	148
8 Lesbofemminismo		162
A survey: lesbian difference and lesbian feminism	Bianca Pomeranzi , 1985	162
The fears of lesbian women	Anna , 1982	170
A charter of rights	Giovanna , 1982	171
More silences than lies	Rafaella , 1983	173
Suggestions from Irigaray	Sandra , 1986	177
9 Diotima		181
The need for a sexed thought	Adriana Cavarero , 1986	181
10 DonnaWomanFemme – DWF		186
Belonging/pertaining	DWF editorial board , 1986	187
Projects/projectuality	DWF editorial board , 1986	193
Political responsibility	DWF editorial board , 1988	199
Forms of politics	DWF editorial board , 1988	203
PART II CHANGING THE CONTEXT: WAYS AND MEANS OF SEXUALIZING POLITICS
11 History of Two Laws		211
Abortion		211

Female sexuality and abortion	Rivolta Femminile , 1971	214
Programme of the CRAC	Comitato Romano per l'Aborto e la Contraccezione , 1975/1976	218
We are working on a different political approach	A group of women from the feminist collective of Via Cherubini, Milan , 1975	223
Manifesto and document of the MLD	Movimento di Liberazione della Donna , 1978/1979	225
A letter to the local government of Lazio	Coordinamento Consultori , 1979	229
Final statement from the conference 'For a new culture of sexuality'	Coordinamento Consultori , 1984	231
Sexual violence: the 1979–1980 debate		234
Today, a movement of 'democratic' women	Lidia Campagnano	234
Women assembling as in the golden days	Vania Chiurlotto	237
Rape is a hideous crime	Rossana Rossanda	239
An important advance	Lea Melandri	244
Moving on from personal authority	Luisa Muraro	247
We have supported the drafting of this law	Collettivo COM-Tempi Nuovi	250
Non-violability in the sexual domain	Maria Luisa Boccia	254
Parliamentary report on the proposal for a law by popular initiative	Angela Bottari, MP	257
12 Women at Home: Salaries for Housewives		260
Introduction to the debate	Lotta Femminista , 1973	261
Statement at a meeting with Lotta Femminista	Movimento Femminista Romano , 1973	262
A priceless role	Carla Casalini , 1982	264
Without polemics: reasons for a debate	Carla Consemi , 1982	266
What if there were only thorns?	Anna Ciaperoni , 1982	269
13 Women at Work: Trade Unions		273
A survey	Alessandra Mecozzi , 1989	273
14 Keeping Silent, Speaking Out – Some Instances		284
The Moro affair		286
Preface from Il silenzio delle donne e il caso Moro	Anna Maria Mori , 1978	286
Terrorism: the 1979 debate		295
Broadsheet	Prima Linea	295
We have read and re-read that broadsheet	A comrade, Women's Movement in Turin	296
My weapon is separatism	Margherita, Movimento Femminista Romano	297
Non-violent, but for how long?	Filo	298

A great love is needed in order to understand Maria and other comrades	299
We have always walked along different paths A comrade, Women's Movement in Turin	301
Pushed by the violence of our desires Anonymous	303
A look 'outside' the armed struggle Roberta Tatafiore	308
Military service for women	310
Long live Utopia Edda Billi, 1982	310
Moving out of a violent prehistory Marlena Fabris, 1982	311
Draft of a law on military service for women Ministry of Defence, 1986	311
It's only the first step towards real parity Elena Marinucci, 1986	313
We don't like rose-tinted uniforms Lidia Menapace, 1986	315
Chernobyl, 1986	317
Call for a demonstration L'Unità	317
Another demonstration about Chernobyl – composed solely of women Letizia Paolozzi	318
Why the demonstration will be women only Franca Chiaromonte	320
Whose job is it to clean the world? Alessandra Bocchetti	323
The fear of life Lidia Campagnano	326
The 'feminine': singular and plural Lea Melandri	328
Yet women love freedom Libreria delle Donne di Milano	329
Broadsheet Vivere Lesbica	334
Slogans for the demonstration Union of Italian Women, 'La Goccia', Rome	335
15 The Issue of Political Representation	339
Excerpts from the Communist Women's Charter 1986	340
Female 'separateness' Lia Cigarini, 1987	349
The gender of representation Maria Luisa Boccia, 1987	352
Table of Women's Centres	368
Chronology 1965–1986	371
Italian Feminist Periodicals	409
Bibliography	419
Index	443